

WASHINGTON – "Without question our military men and women, past and present, deserve the best healthcare available. Anything that interferes with providing that care should be dealt with as our highest priority.

The conditions that have come to light are deplorable and must be corrected. An investigation should be held, and we need to know if this is happening anywhere else."

###